

productivity of its natural resources. Some of the lands within the NRA fall under the purview of the United States mining laws of 1872, as amended, which governs the prospecting for and appropriation of metallic and most nonmetallic minerals. This law provides individuals the right to search for and extract valuable locatable minerals and secure title to the lands involved. A prospector, upon discovering a valuable mineral deposit, may locate a mining claim. Recording that claim in the local courthouse, and with the appropriate BLM State Office, affords the mining claimant protection from subsequent locators. A mining claimant is then entitled to reasonable access to the claim for further prospecting, mining or necessary related activities, subject to other laws and applicable regulations. The Forest Service (FS) will collect information using the Plan of Operations Form FS-2800-5 or whatever format or medium that the operator chooses to process request to mine on federally-owned and/or managed lands.

Burden: 117,800 hours..

Avg Hours Per Response: 30 minutes.

Needs and Uses: The Bureau of the Census conducts the Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP) to collect information from a sample of households concerning the distribution of income received directly as money or indirectly as in-kind benefits. SIPP data are used by economic policymakers, the Congress, state and local governments, and Federal agencies that administer social welfare and transfer payment programs such as the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the Department of Agriculture.

The SIPP is a longitudinal survey, in that households in the panel are interviewed 12 times at 4-month intervals or waves over the life of the panel, making the duration of the panel about 4 years. The next panel of households will be introduced in the year 2000.

The survey is molded around a central core of labor force and income questions, health insurance questions, and questions concerning government program participation that remain fixed throughout the life of the panel. The core questions are asked at Wave 1 and are updated during subsequent interviews. The core is supplemented with additional questions or topical modules designed to answer specific needs.

This request is for clearance of the topical modules to be asked during Wave 11 of the 1996 Panel. The core questions and topical modules for Waves 1-10 have already been cleared. The topical modules for Wave 11 are: (1) Child Support Agreements, (2) Support for Non-household members, (3) Adult Disability, (4) Child Disability, and (5) Computer and Internet Usage. Wave 11 interviews will be conducted from August through November 1999.
