Guidance for Industry on Lupus Nephritis Caused By Systemic Lupus Erythematosus—Developing Medical Products for Treatment

This guidance provides recommendations for industry on developing human drugs, therapeutic biological products, and medical devices for the treatment of lupus nephritis (LN) caused by systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE). This guidance finalizes the parts of the draft guidance entitled “Systemic Lupus Erythematosus—Developing Drugs for Treatment” (the draft guidance) regarding LN. Elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, FDA is announcing the availability of the guidance entitled “Systemic Lupus Erythematosus—Developing Medical Products for Treatment,” which finalizes the draft guidance. Additional organ-specific guidelines will be developed in the future.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Lupus Nephritis Caused By Systemic Lupus Erythematosus—Developing Medical Products for Treatment.” This guidance is intended to assist sponsors in the clinical development of medical products for the treatment of LN caused by SLE. Specifically, the guidance addresses study population enrollment and efficacy endpoints for LN trials.

In the Federal Register of March 29, 2005 (70 FR 15868), FDA announced the availability of a draft guidance entitled “Systemic Lupus Erythematosus—Developing Drugs for Treatment,” which included recommendations regarding medical product development for the treatment of LN caused by SLE. The recommendations specific to LN were removed from the draft guidance and are being finalized in this separate guidance. However, sponsors also should become familiar with the information regarding the overall development program and clinical trial designs for general SLE disease. The guidance entitled “Systemic Lupus Erythematosus—Developing Medical Products for Treatment,” the availability of which is announced elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, provides general information on clinical trial considerations that may assist sponsors in studying LN, as well as providing specific information on trial design, trial duration, efficacy endpoints, and response criteria in SLE.

FDA received a number of comments on the draft guidance. The comments specific to LN were considered and incorporated, as appropriate, when finalizing this separate guidance. Other changes that were made include the addition of more specific examples of trial design and study endpoints, updating the science, and minor editorial changes to clarify specific issues. In addition, input was obtained from the Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research and the Center for Devices and Radiological Health.

This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the agency’s current thinking on developing medical products for the treatment of LN caused by SLE. It does not create or confer any rights for or on any person and does not operate to bind FDA or the public. An alternative approach may be used if such approach satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. The Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

This guidance refers to previously approved collections of information found in FDA regulations. These collections of information are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520). The collections of information in 21 CFR part 312 have been approved under OMB Control No. 0910–0014; the collections of information in 21 CFR part 314 have been approved under OMB Control No. 0910–0001; the collections of information in 21 CFR part 601 have been approved under OMB Control No. 0910–0338; and the collections of information in 21 CFR part 812 have been approved under OMB Control No. 0910–0078.

III. Comments

Interested persons may submit to the Division of Dockets Management (see ADDRESSES) either electronic or written comments regarding this document. It is only necessary to send one set of comments. It is no longer necessary to send two copies of mailed comments. Identify comments with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the Division of Dockets Management between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.
