Updating of Employer Identification Numbers

AGENCY: Internal Revenue Service (IRS), Treasury.

ACTION: Final regulations.

SUMMARY: This document contains final regulations that require any person assigned an employer identification number (EIN) to provide updated information to the IRS in the manner and frequency prescribed by forms, instructions, or other appropriate guidance. These regulations affect persons with EINs and will enhance the IRS’s ability to maintain accurate information as to persons assigned EINs.

DATES: Effective date: These regulations are effective on May 6, 2013.

Applicability date: For date of applicability, see § 301.6109–1(d)(2)(ii)(B).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Paperwork Reduction Act

The collection of information contained in the final regulations has been reviewed and approved by the Office of Management and Budget in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3507(d)) under control number 1545–2242.

The collection of information in the final regulations is in § 301.6109–1(d)(2)(ii)(A). The collection of this information is necessary to allow the IRS to gather correct application information with respect to persons that have EINs. The respondents are persons that have EINs.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a valid control number assigned by the Office of Management and Budget. commentators suggested that the estimated annual average burden of 15 minutes provided in the Paperwork Reduction Act section of the proposed regulations underestimated the actual burden to entities and their agents. One commentator also argued that this rule is “material” because the related costs could reach over $100,000,000. Treasury and the IRS have considered these comments and, for the following reasons, these final regulations adopt the proposed regulations without change.

Treasury and the IRS continue to conclude that updating this application information is necessary for effective tax administration. Some EIN applicants continue to list individuals temporarily authorized to act on behalf of EIN applicants (sometimes referred to as “nominees”) as principal officers, general partners, grantors, owners, and trustees on EIN applications. The listing of nominees or other individuals who are no longer associated with the entity prevents the IRS from gathering and maintaining correct and current information with respect to the responsible party for the EIN applicant. The requirement in the final regulations to provide updated application information will allow the IRS to ascertain the true responsible party for persons who have an EIN. This knowledge will prevent unnecessary delays by allowing the IRS to contact the correct persons when resolving a tax matter related to a business with an EIN. In addition, this information will help the IRS combat schemes that abuse the tax system through the use of nominees, which results in the concealing of the true responsible party for entities that hide assets and income.

Treasury and the IRS also conclude that the costs related to this rule are not “material,” any associated burden on entities resulting from this requirement is minimal, and the costs and burden are outweighed by the benefits to tax administration described in the previous paragraph. An entity with an EIN will always know the identity of its appropriate responsible party, which is generally defined as the individual with the authority to control, manage, or direct the entity and the disposition of its funds and assets. The updating requirement in these final regulations requires entities to keep the IRS informed of the identity of the responsible party. The 15 minute burden estimate provided in the Paperwork Reduction Act section of the proposed regulations is an estimate of burden in reporting and disclosing the correct application information to the IRS, not the burden an entity or its agent may incur in determining this information (which, as noted, is minimal because an entity will always know the identity of its responsible party). Following the publication of these final regulations, the IRS will publish the relevant form for persons issued an EIN to use to disclose the correct application information to the IRS. The relevant form will require these persons to update application information regarding the name and taxpayer identifying number of the responsible party within the applicable timeframe. Treasury and the IRS have determined that the amount of time necessary to fill out the relevant form and submit it to the IRS is minimal.

These final regulations are applicable as of January 1, 2014, so that the IRS can publish the relevant form and instructions in advance of the applicability date.

Special Analyses

It has been determined that these final rules are not a significant regulatory action as defined in Executive Order 12866, as supplemented by Executive Order 13563. Therefore, a regulatory assessment is not required. It also has been determined that section 553(b) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 5) does not apply to these final regulations.

When an agency issues a rulemaking, the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) (5 U.S.C. chapter 6) requires the agency to “prepare and make available for public comment an initial regulatory flexibility analysis” that will “describe the impact of the proposed rule on small entities.” (5 U.S.C. 603(a)). Section 605 of the RFA provides an exception to this requirement if the agency certifies that the proposed rulemaking will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The rules affect entities that have an EIN and the IRS has determined that these rules will have an impact on a substantial number of small entities. The IRS has determined, however, that the impact on entities affected by the rules will not be significant. The current Form SS–4, Application for Employer Identification Number, requires entities to disclose the name of the EIN applicant’s “responsible party” and the responsible party’s Social Security Number, Individual Taxpayer Identification Number, or EIN. Employers are required to know the identity of their responsible party. The amount of time necessary to submit the updated information required in these regulations, therefore, should be minimal for these entities.

Based on these facts, the IRS hereby certifies that the collection of information contained in the final regulations will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis is not required.

Pursuant to section 7805(f) of the Code, the notice of proposed rulemaking preceding the final regulations was submitted to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration for comment on its impact on small business and no comments were received.

Summary:

The Coast Guard is issuing this temporary final rule without prior notice and opportunity to comment when the agency for good cause finds that those procedures are “impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest. Under 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for not publishing a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) with respect to this rule because the Coast Guard did not receive necessary information about the event with sufficient time to publish an NPRM and to receive public comments prior to the event. Any delay in the effective date of this rule would be contrary to the public interest because immediate action is needed to minimize potential danger to the race participants, participant vessels, spectators, and the general public.

Under 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register for the same reasons discussed above.

B. Basis and Purpose

The legal basis for the rule is the Coast Guard’s authority to establish local regulations: 33 U.S.C. 1233. The purpose of the rule is to ensure safety of life on navigable waters of the United States during the 50 Aniversario Balneario de Boquero.

C. Discussion of the Final Rule

On May 5, 2013, Municipio de Cabo Rojo is sponsoring the 50 Aniversario Balneario de Boquero, a series of high-speed boat races. The races will be held on the waters of Bahia de Boqueron in Boquero, PR. Approximately 40 high-speed power boats will be participating in the races. It is anticipated that approximately 5 spectator vessels will be present during the races.

The special local regulation encompasses certain waters of Bahia de Boqueron in Boquero, PR and will be enforced from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. on May 5, 2013. The special local regulation consists of the following three areas: (1) A high-speed boat race area, where all persons and vessels, except those persons and vessels participating in the high-speed boat races, are prohibited from entering, transiting through, anchoring in, or remaining within; (2) a buffer zone around the race areas, where all persons and vessels, except those persons and vessels enforcing the buffer zone or authorized participants transiting to the race area, are prohibited from entering, transiting through, anchoring in, or remaining within; and (3) a spectator area, where all vessels are prohibited from anchoring and from traveling in excess of wake speed unless authorized by the Captain of the Port San Juan or a designated representative.

The purpose of the rule is to establish special local regulations: 33 U.S.C. 1233. The Coast Guard finds that those procedures are “impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest. Under 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for not publishing a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) with respect to this rule because the Coast Guard did not receive necessary information about the event with sufficient time to publish an NPRM and to receive public comments prior to the event. Any delay in the effective date of this rule would be contrary to the public interest because immediate action is needed to minimize potential danger to the race participants, participant vessels, spectators, and the general public.

Under 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register for the same reasons discussed above.
