(iii) It is demonstrated that an appropriate effort is being made to evaluate, commercialize, and secure national regulatory approval of alternatives and substitutes, taking into consideration the circumstances of the particular nomination. Non-Article 5 Parties (e.g., developed countries, including the U.S.) must demonstrate that research programs are in place to develop and deploy alternatives and substitutes. . . .

The term “significant market disruption” is left to the discretion of each Party to the Protocol to interpret. EPA’s interpretation of this term has several dimensions, including looking at potential effects on both demand and supply for a commodity, evaluating potential losses at both an individual level and at an aggregate level, and evaluating potential losses in both relative and absolute terms. EPA refers readers to the preamble for the 2006 CUE rule (71 FR 50989) as well as to the memo in the docket titled “Development of 2003 Nomination for a Critical Use Exemption for Methyl Bromide for the United States of America” for further elaboration.

C. What is the timing for applications for the 2015 control period?

There is both a domestic and international component to the critical use exemption process. The projected timeline for the process for the 2016 critical use exemption is below. A more detailed schedule is on EPA’s Web site at http://www.epa.gov/ozone/mbr/cueinfo.html.

May 31, 2013: Solicit applications for the methyl bromide critical use exemption for 2016.

August 29, 2013: Deadline for submitting critical use exemption applications to EPA.

Early 2014: Technical and Economic Assessment Panel (TEAP) and Methyl Bromide Technical Options Committee (MBTOC) review the nominations for critical use exemptions.

Mid 2014: Parties consider TEAP/MBTOC recommendations.

November 2014: Parties decide whether to authorize critical use exemptions for methyl bromide for production and consumption in 2016.

Late 2015: EPA publishes final rule allocating critical use exemptions in the U.S. for 2016.

January 1, 2016: Critical use exemption permits the limited production and import of methyl bromide for specified uses for the 2016 control period.

Authority: 42 U.S.C. 7414, 7601, 7671–7671q.

Dated: May 16, 2013.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

Agency Information Collection Activities; Submission for OMB Review; Comment Request

AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission ("FTC" or "Commission").

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The FTC seeks public comments on its proposal to the Office of Management and Budget ("OMB") to extend through June 30, 2016, the current Paperwork Reduction Act ("PRA") clearance for the FTC's enforcement of the information collection requirements in its regulation "Duties of Furnishers of Information to Consumer Reporting Agencies" ("Information Furnishers Rule"), which applies to certain motor vehicle dealers, and its shared enforcement with the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau ("CFPB") of the furnisher provisions in subpart E of the CFPB’s Regulation V. The FTC is providing this second opportunity for public comment while seeking OMB renewal to renew the pre-existing clearance for those information collection requirements. For more details about the Rule requirements, the background behind these information collection provisions, and the basis for the calculations summarized below, see the FTC rule. Title: Duties of Furnishers of Information to Consumer Reporting Agencies. OMB Control Number: 3084–0144.

Type of Review: Extension of currently approved collection.

Estimated Annual Burden: Section 660.3 of FTC Rule/Section 1022.42 of CFPB Rule: 7,972 hours and $397,883 in associated labor costs. Section 660.4 of FTC Rule/Section 1022.43 of CFPB Rule: 2,635 hours and $55,414 in associated labor costs.

On March 14, 2013, the Commission sought comment on the information collection requirements associated with the FTC's enforcement of the Rule in its section 1022.42 (68 FR 16265, March 14, 2013). No comments were received. Pursuant to the OMB regulations, 5 CFR Part 1320, that implement the PRA, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., the FTC is providing this second opportunity for public comment while seeking OMB approval to renew the pre-existing clearance for those information collection requirements. For more details about the Rule requirements, the background behind these information collection provisions, and the basis for the calculations summarized below, see the FTC rule. 1 The FTC retains rulemaking authority for its Information Furnishers Rule solely for motor vehicle dealers described in section 1029(a) of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Pub. L. 111–203, 124 Stat. 1376 (2010)) that are predominantly engaged in the sale and servicing of motor vehicles, the leasing and servicing of motor vehicles, or both.

2 This is an increase from the labor cost estimate in the March 14, 2013 Federal Register Notice, attributable to an intervening annual release from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Within it, the mean hourly wage for "Training and development managers" rose from the previously shown amount of $47.73 to $49.91. See http://www.bls.gov/news.release/pdf/occwage.pdf "Occupational Employment and Wages—May 2012." The Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor, released March 2013, Table 1 ("Occupational Employment and Wages—May 2012") (hereinafter, "BLS Table 1.").
