

- Policies should be clear so that originators do not have an inappropriate incentive to sell other products that appear linked to the granting of a mortgage.
- Legal and compliance reviews should include oversight of compensation programs so that lending personnel are not improperly encouraged to direct consumers to particular products.
- Training should be designed so that relevant lending personnel are able to convey information to consumers about product terms and risks in a timely, accurate, and balanced manner.

Title of Information Collection: Reverse Mortgage Products: Guidance for Managing Compliance and Reputation Risks.

OMB Control No.: 1557–0246.

Affected Public: National banks, Federal savings associations, subsidiaries of national banks and Federal savings associations, and Federal branches or agencies of foreign banks.

Type of Review: Regular.

Estimated Burden:

Number of respondents: 15.

Burden per respondent: 40 hours to implement policies and procedures and to provide training; 8 hours annually to maintain program.

Total estimated annual burden: 160 hours.

Comments: On July 12, 2016, the OCC issued a 60-day notice soliciting comment on the information collection, 81 FR 45221. One comment was received from an individual.

The commenter stated that the collection of information is necessary and vital for the proper performance of the Federal banking agencies' functions and that it has a practical utility. The commenter believes that, in any information collection, automated collection techniques would reduce the burden of information collection requirements on the public and the agencies. The commenter suggested that requests for information from the public should include a link to a Web site where the requested information may be uploaded. The commenter doesn't believe that this would add significant cost and feels that it would make providing information less burdensome.

The OCC uses automated collection techniques whenever possible in its information collections, including links where information may be uploaded.

Comments are invited on:

(a) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the Federal banking agencies' functions, including whether the information has practical utility;

(b) The accuracy of the estimates of the burden of the information collection, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

(c) Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected;

(d) Ways to minimize the burden of the information collection on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology; and

(e) Estimates of capital or start up costs and costs of operation, maintenance, and purchase of services to provide information.

Dated: October 13, 2016.
