

SENATE—Monday, April 21, 1997

The Senate met at 10 a.m., on the expiration of the adjournment, and was called to order by the President pro tempore [Mr. THURMOND].

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 10 A.M., TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1997

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the Senate stands in adjournment until the hour of 10 a.m., on Tuesday, April 22, 1997.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 10 o'clock and 20 seconds a.m., adjourned until Tuesday, April 22, 1997, at 10 a.m.

[Faint, mostly illegible text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

[Faint, mostly illegible text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

[Faint, mostly illegible text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

The VICE PRESIDENT Mr. THURMOND. I call to your attention the memorial celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Alaska Island Purchase.

The Speaker, Chief Justice, has been notified by his colleagues in the House of Representatives that the American people extend to his family and to the people of Alaska their deepest condolences in the passing of a man who has helped shape the history of Alaska and the lives of its people.

Among his many books was a historical look at the land war entitled "The Alaska Wars". In 1954, Tilden returned to Alaska and created a law practice in the AVIA. He was elected into parliament as a labor representative.

• This "bullet" symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.