Laying Message Before the House

§ 2.1 Messages from the President are laid before the House by the Speaker.

On June 17, 1969,⁽¹⁾ Speaker John W. McCormack, of Massachusetts, laid before the House a message from the President, transmitting the President's annual report on salary comparability, and then his own directive implementing certain salary adjustments in the House.

The President's message was read and, together with accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service and ordered to be printed:

DIRECTIVE OF THE SPEAKER IMPLEMENTING SALARY COMPARABILITY POLICY IN 1969 FOR OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following directive, which was read: . . .

Pursuant to the authority and duty vested in the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives by section 212 of the Federal Salary Act of 1967 (81 Stat. 634; Public Law 90–206; 5 U.S.C. 5304, note) to implement the salary comparability policy set forth in section 5301 of title 5, United States Code, in the year 1969 for personnel of the House of Representatives, the rates of pay of personnel of the House of Representatives whose pay is disbursed by the Clerk of the House of Representatives are adjusted as follows: . . .

§ 2.2 A Presidential communication addressed to the Speaker urging support for a legislative measure pending before the House is sometimes laid before the House and read but not referred to any committee.

On Feb. 25, 1975,⁽¹⁾ a letter from President Gerald R. Ford, sent to the Speaker, was laid before the House for the information of Members.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the President of the United States:

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington, February 25, 1975.

Hon. CARL ALBERT
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
Washington, D.C.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: I wish to convey to the House of Representatives my deep concern over the present critical situation in Cambodia. . . .

. . . Countries around the world who depend on us for support—as well as their foes—will judge our performance. It is in this spirit and with this sense of responsibility Mr. Speaker, that I urge rapid and favorable action on my request for additional assistance to Cambodia.

GERALD R. FORD.

Practice in Committee of the Whole

§ 2.3 A message from the President is not received while the House is sitting as the Committee of the Whole, but the Committee may rise informally so that the House may receive the message; when it does so, the Chairman of the Committee does not report to the House but merely relinquishes the Chair to the Speaker, who recognizes the messenger of the President, receives the message, and then directs the Committee to resume its sitting.

On June 17, 1969,⁽¹⁾ a message in writing from the President was communicated to the House by one of his secretaries while the House was in the Committee of the Whole. The proceedings were as follows:

Following receipt of the message, the Committee of the Whole resumed its sitting by direction of the Speaker.

Messages Received Pending a Vote

§ 2.4 Messages from the President may be received notwithstanding the operation of the previous question, and the Speaker does not direct the reading of the message pending the vote on a matter.

On Mar. 24, 1949,⁽¹⁾ the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole for further consideration of a bill. After some debate, the Committee rose. A motion to recommit was offered, and the

A parliamentary inquiry was propounded as to the disposition of the Presidential message and whether it bore on the subject at hand. The Chair indicated that the business then before the House should be completed before taking up the message.⁽²⁾

The proceedings were as follows:

The previous question was ordered.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

A message in writing from the President of the United States was communicated to the House by one of his secretaries, who also informed the House that on March 24, 1949, the President approved and signed a joint resolution of the House of the following title:

H.J. Res. 89. Joint resolution providing for the filling of a vacancy in the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, of the class other than Members of Congress.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. At this point the Chair would not say.

The question is on the motion to recommit offered by the gentleman from Texas [Mr. TEAGUE].

Following an announcement of the results of the vote on the motion, the Speaker laid before the House the message from the President; it was read and, together with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The message from the President was as follows:

In compliance with the provisions of section 10 (b) (4) of the Railroad Retirement Act, approved June 24, 1937, and of section 12 (1) of the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act, approved June 25, 1938, I transmit herewith for the information of the Congress the report of the Railroad Retirement Board for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1948.

Authorizing Clerk to Receive Messages During Adjournments

§ 2.5 Before such authority was specifically granted by rule, most concurrent resolutions providing for an adjournment sine die, or for an adjournment to a day certain more than three days hence, contained language specifically stating that the Clerk of the House was authorized to receive messages from the President during the adjournment (with similar authority generally also provided by the Senate for the Secretary of the Senate) and, if not included in the adjournment resolution, such specific authority generally was obtained in each House by unanimous consent.

Rule II clause 2 now authorizes the Clerk to receive messages from the President when the House is not in session.⁽¹⁾

As an example of the standard type of concurrent resolution of adjournment that made clear the Clerk's authority to receive messages from the President during a period of adjournment, the proceedings of Dec. 15, 1977,⁽²⁾ are shown here:

1. House Rules and Manual §652 (2007).

Mr. [James C.] WRIGHT [Jr., of Texas]. Mr. Speaker, I send to the Speaker's desk a privileged concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 442) authorizing the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House to receive messages, including veto messages, from the President of the United States during adjournment of the two Houses.

The Clerk read the concurrent resolution, as follows:

H. CON. RES. 442

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That when the two Houses adjourn on Thursday, December 15, 1977, they shall stand adjourned sine die.

SEC. 2. During the adjournment of both Houses of Congress as provided in section 1, the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House, respectively be, and they hereby are, authorized to receive messages, including veto messages, from the President of the United States.

The concurrent resolution was agreed to.

Alternatively, such authority sometimes was clarified by unanimous consent, as the proceedings of Nov. 21, 1980,⁽³⁾ illustrate:

Mr. [Paul] SIMON [of Illinois]. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that, notwithstanding any adjournment of the House until Monday, December 1, 1980, the Clerk be authorized to receive messages from the President and the Senate and that the Speaker be authorized to sign any enrolled bills and joint resolutions duly passed by the two Houses and found truly enrolled.

The SPEAKER.⁽⁴⁾ Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Parliamentarian's Note: This type of request became standard practice after the decision in Kennedy v Sampson in 1974.⁽⁵⁾ In that case, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit held that a bill could not be pocket-vetoed by the President during an adjournment of more than three days to a day certain if the House of origin had made arrangements for the receipt of Presidential messages.⁽⁶⁾

Mr. [Bertrand H.] SNELL [of New York]. Reserving the right to object, what department was this lost in?

Mr. DIMOND. According to the letter, it was lost in the Department of the Interior.

June 24, 1986.

My fellow citizens. The matter that brings me before you today is a grave one and concerns my most solemn duty as President. It is the cause of freedom in Central America and the national security of the United States. Tomorrow the House of Representatives will debate and vote on this issue. I had hoped to speak directly and at this very hour to Members of the House of Representatives on this subject, but was unable to do so. Because I feel so strongly about what I have to say, I have asked for this time to share with you—and members of the House—the message I would have otherwise given.

Parliamentarian's Note: In recognition of the doctrine of separation of powers, the Speaker had suggested that the Congress, by concurrent resolution, invite the President to address the two Houses in joint session “for the purpose of receiving any communication he might be pleased to make.” The President refused the invitation. A Presidential message may be divided for referral to more than one committee.⁽⁴⁾

Under Rule XII clause 8,⁽⁵⁾ estimates of appropriations and other communications from executive departments are referred by the Speaker as provided in Rule XIV clause 2.⁽⁶⁾

Timing of Referral

§ 3.1 Although the Chair lays before the House a message from the President on the day received, the House on occasion, by unanimous consent, has directed that the referral of the message be postponed until a later day.

On Feb. 3, 1986,⁽¹⁾ the referral of a comprehensive message submitted by the President under the
