¶98.25 TRADE AGREEMENTS

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI, pursuant to House Resolution 542, called up the following concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 246):

Whereas a General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (hereinafter in this resolution referred to as the "GATT") dispute resolution panel decreed on August 16, 1991, that certain provisions of the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 designed to protect dolphins are a barrier to trade and must be eliminated;

Whereas the GATT panel ruling additionally declared that nations may not have laws that protect health, safety, or the environment beyond that nation's geographic borders, or laws that take into account the process or conditions under which a product is produced or harvested;

Whereas the GATT panel may also jeopardize other United States laws and international agreements intended to protect global resources, including provisions that protect the stratospheric ozone layer, provisions to save endangered species, provisions to discourage driftnet fishing, and provisions for the protection of whales; and

Whereas ongoing negotiations for the Uruguay Round of the GATT, reflected in the December 1990 draft agreement and the United States-Mexico Free Trade Agreement, could weaken United States health, safety, labor, and environmental laws, including laws adopted by State and local authorities: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring)

SECTION 1. PRESIDENT.

The Congress calls upon the President to initiate and complete negotiations, as part of the current Uruguay Round GATT talk, to make the GATT compatible with the Marine Mammal Protection Act and other United States health, safety, labor, and environmental laws, including those laws that are designed to protect the environment outside the geographic borders of the United States.

SEC. 2. LEGISLATION.

The Congress will not approve legislation to implement any trade agreement (including the Uruguay Round of the GATT and the United States-Mexico Free Trade Agreement) if such agreement jeopardizes United States health, safety, labor, or environmental laws (including the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Clean Air Act).

When said concurrent resolution was considered.

After debate,

Pursuant to House Resolution 542, the previous question was considered as ordered.

The question being put, viva voce,

Will the House agree to said concurrent resolution?

COMPETITIVENESS

On motion of Mr. HALL of Texas, by unanimous consent, the Committee on Armed Services was discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 3848) to encourage the growth and development of commercial space activities in the United States, and for other purposes.

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Commercial Space Competitiveness Act of 1992".

TITLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 101. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds that—

(1) commercial activities of the private sector have substantially contributed to the strength of both the United States space program and the national economy;

(2) a robust United States space transportation capability remains a vital cornerstone of the United States space program;

(3) the availability of commercial launch services is essential for the continued growth of the United States commercial space sector;

(4) a timely extension of the excess third party claims payment provisions of the Commercial Space Launch Act is appropriate and necessary to enable the private sector to continue covering maximum probable liability risks while protecting the private sector from uninsurable levels of liability which could hinder international competitiveness;

(5) greater Federal use of commercial launch services for suborbital launches would increase the efficiency of the United States space science program and improve the capabilities of the United States commercial launch industry;

(6) a program to demonstrate how the space science community can purchase launch services directly from the private sector has the potential to increase the efficiency of the United States space science program and improve the capabilities of the United States commercial launch industry;

(7) improvements and additions to the Nation's space transportation infrastructure contribute to a robust and cost effective space transportation capability for both public sector and private sector users;

(8) private sector use of available Government facilities on a reimbursable basis contributes to a stronger commercial space sector;
