

“(e) DEMOCRACY.—

“(1) RATIONALE.—The promotion of democracy throughout the world is in the basic interest of the United States. Democratic development, political pluralism, and respect for internationally recognized human rights are intrinsically linked to economic and social progress. Democracy can only be sustained in a society in which the legitimacy of the government rests firmly on the expressed consent of the governed; the rights of all citizens, including minorities, are respected and protected; and there is effective civilian control over the military and security forces. It is in the interest of the United States and in keeping with our democratic traditions to support democratic aspirations and values, foster the spread of democratic institutions, and encourage universal respect for civil and political liberties.

“(2) ELABORATION ON OBJECTIVE.—(A) Furtherance of the basic objective of democracy requires that the United States promote—

“(i) the ability of all citizens of a country to organize and associate freely and independently of the government;

“(ii) the ability of all citizens to freely choose their government, to hold that government accountable, and to participate in political life;

“(iii) increased respect for internationally recognized human rights and the rule of law;

“(iv) respect for the diversity among the citizens of a country; and “(v) acceptance of and respect for civilian authority by all elements of society.

“(B) An essential ingredient of development is the growth of indigenous nongovernmental organizations that are committed to democratic values and active in the promotion of democracy. United States efforts to foster democratic pluralism and build democratic institutions are most likely to create enduring bonds of democratic cooperation when United States nongovernmental organizations are involved in strengthening the capacity of nongovernmental organizations in other countries.

“(C) Democracy requires honest and open participatory government. United States assistance should help governments to establish processes of accountability and transparency to eliminate corruption and abuses of power and assist nongovernmental organizations to develop the capability to monitor the government’s performance.

“(D) With regard to economic assistance under this Act or the Support for East European Democracy (SEED) Act of 1989 for countries that are in transition from communism to democracy, it shall be the policy of the United States, to the extent feasible, to provide assistance directly to democratically elected governments of states whose incorporation into the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has never been recognized by the United States: Provided, That economic assistance to Yugoslavia otherwise authorized by law shall not be prohibited as a consequence of this provision. As used in this subparagraph, the term ‘democratically elected’ means elected through open, free, and fair elections. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to preclude assistance to agencies of such federal governments that promote democratic reforms, human rights, the rule of law, and/or market oriented reforms, provided that funds are not provided directly to any such agency.

“(f) EFFECTIVE USES OF ASSISTANCE.—

(1) BENEFICIARY COUNTRIES.—Assistance furnished under this title should be concentrated in countries that will make the most effective use of that assistance in promoting the four basic objectives set forth in subsection (a).

“(2) ASSISTANCE WITHIN COUNTRIES.—Activities should be undertaken in regions of recipient countries that offer potential for successful development and should not be undertaken if the relevant sector or national economic policies of the country are clearly unfavorable to the sustainability or broadest possible impact of the assisted program or project.

“(3) TYPES OF ACTIVITIES.—Assistance should focus on those types of activities that the United States can provide most effectively.”

(b) REPEAL OF DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE AUTHORITIES—Effective October 1, 1995, sections 103 through 107 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 are repealed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore, Mr. McNULTY, announced that the yeas had it.
