

tive. This past year I have experienced some personal losses. I lost my father, and my mother lost her husband of 50 years. My mother, due to serious health problems, is being forced to move into assisted living. My mother has lost her home, her husband, and her life as she knew it.

This week before making this decision I visited my mother in her hospital in Harrisburg. I should say she is now out and is in the assisted living facility. I asked her how she could handle these setbacks with such a positive attitude. She said, Newtie—she still calls me that. I do not think I am ever going to get to Mr. Speaker with my mother—she says, Newtie, you just have to get on with life.

Coming back from Harrisburg, I realized that she gave me strength and made me realize that for Marianne and myself, moving on with our lives, in the right way, by doing the right thing was our most important goal.

Let me make clear: We endure the difficulties, and the pain of the current political process, but we believe renewing America is the great challenge for our generation. I said on the day I became Speaker for the second time that we should focus on the challenges of race, drugs, ignorance and faith. Over the past few months, I have met with Americans of all backgrounds and all races as we discussed new approaches and new solutions. I am convinced that we can enter the 21st century with a renewed America of remarkable power and ability.

This is a great country, filled with good people. We do have the capacity to reform welfare and help every citizen move from welfare to work. We do have the potential to help our poorest citizens move from poverty to prosperity. We do have the potential to replace quotas with friendship and set-asides with volunteerism. We can reach out to every American child of every ethnic background, in every neighborhood, and help them achieve their Creator's endowed unalienable right to pursue happiness. We cannot guarantee happiness, but we can guarantee the right to pursue.

Recently, I had a chance to have breakfast with the fine young men and women of the 2d Infantry Division in Korea where my father had served. Today South Korea is free and prosperous because young Americans, for 47 years, have risked their lives in alliance with young Koreans.

I was reminded on that morning that freedom depends on courage and integrity; that honor, duty, country is not just a motto, it is a way of life. We in this House must live every day in that tradition. We have much to do to clean up our political and governmental processes. We have much to do to communicate with our citizens and with those around the world who believe in freedom and yearn for freedom. Everywhere I went recently, in Hong Kong, Beijing, Shanghai, Taipei, Seoul, and Tokyo, people talked about freedom of speech, free elections, the rule of law, an independent judiciary, the right to own private property, and the right to pursue happiness through free markets.

We in this House are role models. People all over the world watch us and study us. When we fall short, they lose hope. When we fail, they despair.

To the degree I have made mistakes, they have been errors of implementation but never of intent. This House is at the center of freedom, and it deserves from all of us a commitment to be worthy of that honor.

Today, I am doing what I can to personally live up to that calling and that standard. I hope my colleagues will join me in that quest.

May God bless this House, and may God bless America.
