

diversity and in promoting the sustainable use of its components.

The Convention will enter into force on December 29, 1993. Prompt ratification will demonstrate the United States commitment to the conservation and sustainable use of biological diversity and will encourage other countries to do likewise. Furthermore, in light of the rapid entry into force of the Convention, early ratification will best allow the United States to fully represent its national interest at the first Conference of the Parties.

I recommend that the Senate give early and favorable consideration to this Convention and give its advice and consent to ratification, subject to the understandings described in the accompanying report of the Secretary of State.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON

The White House,
November 19, 1993.

Nomination for United States District Court Judges

November 19, 1993

The President nominated eleven individuals to be U.S. district court judges. They are:

Fred Biery, Western District of Texas
W. Royal Furgeson, Western District of Texas
Orlando Garcia, Western District of Texas
John Hannah, Eastern District of Texas
Janis Graham Jack, Southern District of Texas
Franklin D. Burgess, Western District of Washington
Michael J. Davis, District of Minnesota
Ancer Haggerty, District of Oregon
Michael A. Ponsor, District of Massachusetts
Marjorie O. Rendell, Eastern District of Pennsylvania

Lesley Brooks Wells, Northern District of Ohio

“As the Senate completes its work for this session, I am very pleased at the progress we have made in filling judicial vacancies,” said the President. “We have nominated more Federal judges by Thanksgiving than any of my recent predecessors and have appointed judges who are marked by both their excellence and commitment to public service. I intend to continue on this course when the Congress returns next year.”

NOTE: Biographies of the nominees were made available by the Office of the Press Secretary.

The President's Radio Address

November 20, 1993

Good morning. This week at a time when many Americans are hurting from the strains of the tough global economy, our country chose courageously to compete and not to retreat. With its vote Wednesday night for the North American Free Trade Agreement, the House of Representatives sent a message to the world: Yes, the cold war is over, but America's leadership for prosperity, security, and freedom continues.

The morning after the NAFTA vote I came to Seattle to convene an historic meeting of the leaders of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation forum. Passage of NAFTA strengthened my hand with the leaders of the Asian-Pacific economies as I worked to make their markets as open to our products and services as our market is to theirs.

The only way to achieve lasting prosperity and real economic security for our people is for America to expand our exports by reaching out to the world, not retreating from it. In plain language, we've got to have more customers for our products and services. But after two decades when good paying jobs have been lost and incomes of working people have stagnated and