REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

On December 3, 2009, Petitioner Adams, who is currently incarcerated in the Stewart Detention Center, filed the current habeas corpus petition pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241. (R-1). On February 16, 2010, Respondents filed a pre-answer Motion to Dismiss and a Memorandum in support of same. (R-11). Petitioner was notified of the pending motion to dismiss and filed a response on March 1, 2010. (R-13).

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Petitioner is currently detained by the Immigration and Custom Enforcement (ICE) at the Stewart Detention Center in Lumpkin, Georgia. (R-1).
2. In April of 1995, Petitioner became a lawful permanent resident. (R-11-2). On May 31, 2001, Petitioner became a naturalized U.S. citizen, but the Certificate of Naturalization was thereafter cancelled by the District Court of California on March 11, 2005. (R-11-2, Exh. D).
3. On April 14, 2004, Petitioner was convicted of unlawful procurement of naturalization and making a false statement in the United States District Court, Eastern District of California, and sentenced to a combined period of confinement of 97 months.¹
4. Petitioner thereafter pled guilty in the same court to conspiracy to commit mail and wire fraud and conspiracy to launder money.² Petitioner was sentenced to serve 60 months for conspiracy to commit mail fraud and 97 months for conspiracy to commit money laundering, both to be served concurrently with the sentence imposed in the previous case. Id. Petitioner was further ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $1,201,092.90. Id.

5. On July 2, 2009, Petitioner was taken into custody by the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services. (R-1).
6. On the same date, a Notice to Appear was filed in Petitioner's case with the Executive Office of Immigration Review in Atlanta, Georgia. (R-2). The Notice to Appear alleged that Petitioner was subject to removal from the United States because he was an alien convicted of an aggravated felony. Id.
7. On September 21, 2009, Petitioner was served with Form I-261, Additional Charges of Inadmissibility/ Deportability. (R-11-2, Exh. J).
8. On December 3, 2009, Petitioner filed the current petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus. (R-1).
9. On January 12, 2010, Petitioner appeared before an Immigration Judge at the Stewart County Detention Center. (R-11-2, Exh. L).

LEGAL STANDARD

The standard for a Motion to Dismiss was altered by the United States Supreme Court case of Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 127 S. Ct. 1955 (2007), which overturned the fifty year old test of "no set of facts" established in Conley v. Gibson, 127 S. Ct. 1969 (1957). Twombly, 127 S. Ct. at 1969. The Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit addressed the new standard in Financial Sec. Assur., Inc. v. Stephens, Inc., stating:

In order for a plaintiff to satisfy his "obligation to provide the grounds of entitlement to relief," he must allege more than "labels and conclusions"; his complaint must include "[f]actual allegations [adequate] to raise a right to relief above the speculative level.” Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 1964-65, 167 L.Ed. 2d 929 (May 21, 2007) (citations and quotations omitted). Stated differently, the factual allegations in a complaint must “possess enough heft” to set forth “a plausible entitlement to relief,” 127 S.Ct. at 1966-67. Moreover, “while notice pleading may not require that the pleader allege a ‘specific fact’ to cover every element or allege ‘with precision’ each element of the claim, it is still necessary that a complaint ‘contain either direct or inferential allegations respecting all the material elements necessary to sustain a recovery under some viable legal theory.’” Roe v. Aware Woman Ctr. For Choice, Inc., 253 F.3d 678, 683 (11th Cir. 2001) (quoting In re Plywood Antitrust Litig., 655 F.2d 627, 641 (5th Cir., Unit A Sept. 8, 1981)).

500 F.3d 1276, 1282-83 (11th Cir. 2007). In ruling on a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, the analysis “is limited primarily to the face of the complaint and attachments thereto.” Brooks v. Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Fla., Inc., 116 F.3d 1364, 1368 (11th Cir. 1997). The Court must “constru[e] the complaint in the light most favorable to the plaintiff and accept [] as true all facts which the plaintiff alleges.” Day v. Taylor, 400 F.3d 1272, 1275 (11th Cir. 2005). Nevertheless, if a complaint does not include sufficient factual allegations “to raise a right of relief above the speculative level” and “to raise a reasonable expectation that discovery will reveal evidence of” the plaintiff’s claim or claims, then the complaint must be dismissed. Watts v. Fla. Int’l Univ, 495 F.3d 1289, 1295-96 (11th Cir. 2007) (citing Twombly, 127 S. Ct. at 1965).

DISCUSSION

In his Application, the Petitioner argues that he is a former native of Nigeria who is currently stateless. (R-1). Petitioner contends that he has been wrongfully subjected to removal proceedings by the Department of Homeland Security, Immigration and Custom Enforcement (ICE). Id. Specifically, Petitioner contends that he was not served with the Notice to Appear following his detention by ICE. (R-1, p. 11). Petitioner further states that he “has a substantial due process right not to be detained while his direct appeal is pending and on the basis of convictions for which he cannot be deported.” (R-1, p. 17). Petitioner, therefore, requests that his writ of habeas corpus be granted and that he be released. Id.

Application of the Law

Petitioner’s detention by ICE pending removal from the United States is governed by section 241(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (“INA”), 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a). Under this provision, the Attorney General is afforded a ninety-day period to accomplish the alien’s removal from the United States following the entry of a final order of deportation or removal, or, if the alien is confined, the date the alien is released from confinement.³ See INA § 241(a)(1)(A)-(B), 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(A)-(B). During the 90-day period, Congress has mandated detention of the alien ordered removed. See INA § 241(a)(2), 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(2).

Section 236 of the INA, codified at 8 U.S.C. § 1226, governs the detention of aliens who are not under an administratively final order of removal. Specifically, INA § 236 (c)) provides for the mandatory detention of criminal aliens who have been convicted of aggravated felonies. In this case, Petitioner, an alien who is not under an administratively final order of removal, has

³ 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(B) provides:

The removal period begins on the latest of the following:

- (i) The date the order of removal becomes administratively final.
- (ii) If the removal order is judicially reviewed and if a court orders a stay of the removal of the alien, the date of the court’s final order.
- (iii) If the alien is detained or confined (except under an immigration process), the date the alien is released from detention or confinement.

been convicted of aggravated felonies as well as a crime involving moral turpitude, committed within five years of his admission into this country. He is, therefore, subject to the mandatory custody provision of 8 U.S.C. § 1226.

Pursuant to the Immigration and Naturalization Act codified at 8 U.S.C. § 1252(d)(1), this court's review of a removal order is limited in that the court may review a final order of removal only if "the alien has exhausted all administrative remedies available to the alien as of right." Taylor v. United States, 396 F.3d 1322, 1327 (11th Cir. 2005). The Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals has further held that the exhaustion requirement extends to habeas proceedings. Sundar v. INS, 328 F.3d 1320, 1322-1324 (11th Cir.2003). In this case, Petitioner has obviously not exhausted his available administrative remedies. There has been no final order of removal entered in this case from which he could have so exhausted. Petitioner's application for habeas relief is, therefore, premature.

Furthermore, as to Petitioner's contention that his detention is unlawful due to the government's failure to serve him with the NTA on July 2, 2009, and his claim that his detention was unlawful because his felony conviction was still on appeal, it is found that this court lacks jurisdiction to review his claims. Pursuant to the REAL ID Act of 2005, there is a limit on district court jurisdiction over orders of removal. See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(5) (a petition for review shall be the "sole and exclusive means for judicial review of an order of removal"). The provisions of the REAL ID Act preclude district courts from reviewing all final orders of removal of criminal and non-criminal aliens, including citizenship claims. See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(5) (vesting exclusive jurisdiction in the courts of appeals to review claims to citizenship made in the context of removal proceedings). The REAL ID Act clearly states that “[j]udicial review of all questions of law and fact . . . arising from any action taken or proceeding brought to remove an alien from the United States . . . shall be available only in judicial review of a final order [by the relevant court of appeals] under this section.” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9).

WHEREFORE, IT IS RECOMMENDED that Respondent’s Motion to Dismiss be GRANTED and Petitioner’s Application for writ of habeas corpus be DISMISSED without prejudicing his right to file a new § 2241 petition in the future if a change in circumstances enable Petitioner to state a claim upon which habeas relief can be granted. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §636(b)(1), the parties may serve and file written objections to this RECOMMENDATION with the UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE, WITHIN FOURTEEN (14) DAYS after being served with a copy hereof.

SO RECOMMENDED this 1st day of April, 2010.
