

Ensure the public has access to your information with the latest communication tools.

More and more citizens are using online tools for research and in gathering government information. GPO can transform your printed versions to an eBook or mobile site or use your data to create a mobile app. GPO can help you expand the way you fulfill your digital strategy for ensuring the American public has access to your information.

Support the White House digital strategy for the Federal Government by ensuring the American people have access to government information on any device.

eBook Format

Design Services

GPO can create eBooks from your text files or if you choose to have our design staff produce your project for print, we can convert the project to eBook format.

Conversion Services

GPO can convert your PDF or InDesign files to eBook formats such as ePub or enhanced PDF. Once converted, you can post your copy on your Web site and/or distribute as you please. (except for those files converted by Google or Apple at their expense).

Free Dissemination Services

Once we have designed or converted your files, GPO can distribute your eBooks to reach public and academic libraries, online retailers, and GPO's online bookstore. This service is at no additional charge to you.

Public and Academic Libraries

When your eBook is supplied to public or academic libraries, the libraries put the eBook on their "virtual shelves" where you can check out the book for free, place it on your e-reading device, and read the book. After a set period of time, the eBook is "returned" and no longer accessible on your device.

Online Retailers

GPO has agreements with Apple, Barnes & Noble.com, Overdrive, Ingram, Zinio and other leading online retailers and distributors.

Direct to the Public

GPO also participates in two types of direct-to-the public programs with Google — the Google Books Partner Program and Google Play.

Under the Google Books Partner Program, printed books are sent to Google to be scanned and posted online within the Google Books collection. Once in Google Books, you can browse up to 20% of the book online. If you wish to purchase, you simply click the link to go to the GPO online bookstore. So far, more than 4 million people have discovered Federal books online through this program.

GPO works with Google to get your books on Google Play. Through this program you can preview books online, just like in the Google Books Partner Program. Titles can be searched, purchased, and read on any Internet-connected device with a capable browser.

Consulting Services

Any Federal agency that prints through GPO or has its content converted to an eBook format through GPO may take advantage of GPO's eBook consulting services.

GPO will provide advice on the best channels to use to reach your intended audience, the best eBook formats for those channels, and the materials we require to get you started.

Mobile Formats

Due to the rapid adoption of eReaders and tablets, more Americans are accessing commercial and government information from mobile devices.

Web sites and Mobile Solutions

GPO uses responsive Web design principles when working on your site. This provides an optimal viewing experience across a wide range of devices for easy reading and navigation with a minimum of resizing, panning, and scrolling.

To maximize cross-platform compatibility, GPO develops Web apps based on submitted content which optimizes the publications for viewing on mobile devices.

GPO's web apps include the Presidential Documents app and the award-winning FY13 U.S. Government Budget app. To view the full list of GPO's web apps, scan the QR code or visit www.gpo.gov/mobile.

