WASHINGTON – The U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) continues to expand the various platforms people can use to learn about the agency and the Federal Government. GPO joins LinkedIn, the world's largest professional network. LinkedIn has about 300 million users worldwide. GPO will use LinkedIn to share agency job openings, news, products, services and Government information with the public. LinkedIn joins GPO's other social media platforms: Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Pinterest and Government Book Talk blog.

“The agency has always adapted to technologies that improve sharing and communicating Government information with the public. Social media connects billions of people worldwide. By adding LinkedIn to its social media platforms, GPO is providing the public with another way to stay informed on the three branches of the Federal Government,” said GPO Director Davita Vance-Cooks.

GPO is the Federal Government's official, digital, secure resource for producing, procuring, cataloging, indexing, authenticating, disseminating, and preserving the official information products of the U.S. Government. The GPO is responsible for the production and distribution of information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government, including U.S. passports for the Department of State as well as the official publications of Congress, the White House, and other Federal agencies in digital and print formats. GPO provides for permanent public access to Federal Government information at no charge through our Federal Digital System (www.fdsys.gov), partnerships with approximately 1,200 libraries nationwide participating in the Federal Depository Library Program, and our secure online bookstore.
